TSB TOPEC Term 3

Hi to everyone,

Spring has sprung and we are now heading into the summer weather. Daylight saving has made a big difference with plenty of time to get to camp and set up a good fire.

Our two new buildings have arrived on site and I will cover more on this later in the newsletter.

Other highlights of the term include a cool mountain week with Opunake High School at the start of the term. We had great snow conditions and some accomplished snow caves were constructed. The weather was accommodating and the students all performed well.

We also had a great week with NPGHS caving and rafting. The girls got stuck into the caves and pushed their limits with caves such as Skyline and Fallopien being undertaken. Running by next year. The change in format with a new unit standard being used to assess the experience was well worth it.

A lowlight was the unwanted and thoughtless act of vandalism by persons unknown when they smashed up one of our leased vans. You may have seen me in the Daily news looking grumpy—with good reason. It is a sad state when we need to not only manage the natural risks to activities but we also have to consider the stupidity of humans.

The Get to Go was a highlight for many schools. It was great to see so many enthused and eager yr 9 and 10 students racing around N.P. battling each other for the chance to take part in the national event. TOPEC donated gear for the event which was well organized and managed by Don Paterson.

Things here at TOPEC continue to evolve with courses and what we can offer. If you have an idea for your school course just get in touch.

Tom welcome —amy rafting—caving, mountain,

The recent events at OPC have been extremely saddening and our thoughts and hearts go to those that were directly or indirectly involved in the tragedy.

The incident has sent shockwaves throughout the Outdoor Sector and has given everyone cause to stop and reevaluate activities and operations.

OPC a world leader in Outdoor Education will be working hard to understand the factors that led to this terrible situation. It is a centre of high standards and professionalism. I am sure that this professionalism will allow a full and honest review of their processes.

The investigation into the tragedy will highlight the lessons that need to be learnt by not only OPC but all Outdoor Providers. We will be awaiting the results to ensure that TOPEC operations consider the recommendations made.

I hope that no knee jerk reaction takes place as has happened in the UK. To similar incidents. It is important that the Youth of New Zealand continue to explore the outdoors and experience the joy and wonder of our natural world

We offer our condolences to those that have lost loved ones, the survivors and to the staff at OPC.

ROW—Quarry Trucks staff swims

At the beginning of June we all traveled to the Central North Island for staff development in River Rescue and Alpine Skills.

We covered raft rescue skills and braved the frigid waters of the Tongarairo River. This was a really useful week for us to ensure that we are operating safely and up to date with current industry best practice.

We also explored the first Snow of the year on Mt Ruapehu. Skills were refined and knowledge shared in this Mountain Environment. Use of the Ice axe, crampons and belay systems were focused upon.

Later in June Nick ran a trip to the Kaituna river a serious grade 4+ river. This includes the highest commercially run Waterfall in NZ (7m).
